I. M. NANAVATI INTER COLLEGE SPORTS MEET 2017: FCAIT TAKES THE BULL BY THE HORNS!

With the purpose to instil sportsman spirit among students and to enhance their physical and social skills, Faculty of Computer Applications & Information Technology (FCAIT) hosted I. M. Nanavati Inter College Sports Meet 2017 from 2nd January, 2017 to 7th January, 2017.

With great zest and gusto, the students from various courses participated in the Sports Meet. The Sports Meet included 10 games with more than 1200 entries. The team events were Kabaddi, Football, Volleyball, Cricket, Relay Race, and Badminton. The individual events were Long Jump, Running Race, Badminton, Discus Throw and Shotput.

During this period, the aura in the university was full of zeal and enthusiasm amongst students and faculties. The students of institutes came up to support the participants with great vivacity. Events were inaugurated by dignitaries from various institutes.

This year, FCAIT tried to implement some new concepts with the usage of Information Technology by developing an Android App "GLS University Sports Meet 2017". This application was created by the students with the support of the faculties. Live updates of the events were given on this app. To constantly apprise students, faculties, directors and deans of various institute with progress of events, the Short Messaging Service (SMS) was usedright from registration to result declaration.

As truly quoted by Thomas Edison, "Our greatest weakness lies in Giving up. The most certain way to succeed is always to try just one more time", throughout the week, the students unprecedentedly tried to give their best performances overcoming different challenges.

The closing ceremony anticipated mashal walk followed by the parade by the students from all the faculties of GLS University followed by prize distribution to felicitate the winners of events.

The ceremony was graced with the presence of Shri. Sudhir Nanavati, President, GLS University. In his speech he expressed his gratitude to students for discipline maintained during the sports meet. He also mentioned that sports is a celebration amongst the students. He announced a name for the Sports Meet as "Sports Celebration by Students of GLS University". He declared that from next year T-shirts and Caps will be provided to participants by GLS University. He added an award of "Best Student of all the 3 years of GLS University". He also added that cash prizes will be given by his family worth Rs 2.5 lakh which will be distributed amongst winners along with medals and trophies. He also supplemented that every year Rs. 5 lakh will be utilized in betterment of sports facilities for the students and to get equipments.

Dr. B. H. Joshi, Provost, GLS University, Dr. Hitesh Ruparel, Director General, GLS University, Shri Vadibhai Patel, Dean, Students Welfare, GLS University and Shri. R.P.Soni, Dean, FCAIT had also put forward their experiences, views and opinions for future sports activities during the closing ceremony of the Sports Meet. Ms. Tripti Dodiya, Director In-charge, GLSICA gave a vote of thanks.

"Obstacles don't have to stop you. If you run into a wall, then turn around and give up. Figure out how to climb it, go through it, or work around it" – the famous quote by Michael Jordan was truly conceptualized by the faculty team of FCAIT with enduring support of volunteers.

Congratulations to the winners of GLS University Inter College Sports Meet 2017!

SAFE. ARE WE?

By Nirja Vasavada

As we were all set to welcome 2017, two extremely unnerving incidents shook the foundation of what we mean by freedom – Terrorist attack in Istanbul, and mass molestation of women in Bengaluru. But how does it concern us, we Amdavadis? We don't live in Istanbul nor do we live in Bengaluru (or even Delhi or Mumbai). We are all safe in our cosy houses, in our safe city Ahmedabad. The question here is – how do we measure safety? Is the city safe or unsafe?

As a part of CWDC, Faculty of Business Administration (NRBBA) had organized a guest session by Dr. Mayuri Pandya, Principal, GLS Law college, who talked about the laws against sexual harassment at a workplace. While explaining the term harassment, she asked one question – how many of you have been eve teased, stared at, have felt uncomfortable because your personal space is intruded upon in a public place? Unfortunately all of us relate to it. Be it a small village or an urban city. So, it is not the city that makes you unsafe. It is complete lack of sensitivity, humanity and respect for human beings. What happened in Bengaluru this time, or what happened in Delhi 4 years back (Nirbhaya) or what has been happening to all of us in public places is a blatant show of misogyny. Access to public space has always been denied to women. Very much like these spaces are denied to all in a terrorist attack prone areas. Sometimes people – family members, friends stop us, and most of the times our own fear stops us. What we fail to understand is that by not accessing the public spaces will not stop the harassment. The harassment will only stop when we are able to stir the sense of respect in all.

This sounds impossible, right? But then, doesn't every change sound impossible? These infuriating incidents on the first day of the year have made us realize that 'the heaven of freedom' is still far. It made me feel angry and helpless. But every new beginning brings hope, so instead of leaving at the thought of impossibility, let us all get together and spread sensitivity for other human beings, reclaim our right to access the public spaces and right to breathe without any fear of getting molested or getting killed in a terrorist attack.

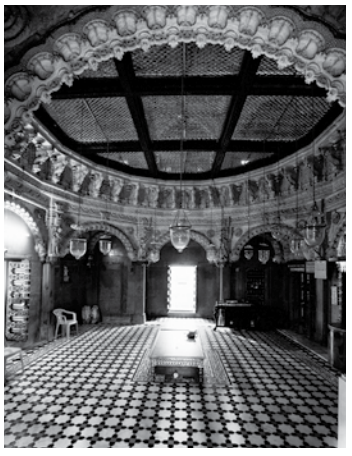
CAPTURING THE NUANCES OF VIBRANT AHMEDABAD

Five day photography workshop at GLSID



It was recently that foundation students at GLS Institute of Design were to attend photography workshop for five days from 13 December to 17 December, 2016. The institute invited Ravikiran Rangaswami, a practicing professional photographer to provide hands on exposure to students who were going to have introduction to the science and arts in photography. The course was designed and coordinated by Akash Gaur, faculty GLS Institute of Design. The intent of the course was to introduce possible usage of camera and related techniques but it was also a field exposure for students. During the course the students traveled across the city to discover nooks and places that are essentially characteristics of the city. The entire batch of students were divided into groups and given briefing respectively. They were suggested to capture monuments, people in action, kitlis, emerging urban landscapes; bridges, hangout places and gates and poles of the old city. Some students used camera for the first time. City's enigmatic sights and capturing momentary actions of people was a great experience. The course have enthused them to explore deeper into the world of photography. This introduction has enabled the students with avid observation; using camera as a tool, bringing out the narrative of the location and communicating the same to the audience. "And it has definitely improved their capabilities to frame and click which will connect them with the people and the city of Ahmedabad." Applauded the director Mr. Anil Sinha while looking at the exhibition.

GLS Institute of Design also organised an exhibition of final pictures taken by the students. The exhibition was open for all and received overwhelming response and feedback from the visitors. This practise of working hard and open invitation to the city is reflection of confidence in students. This is the third time that students have organised exhibition of their final work Of different courses. The online presence of students is also extended worldwide resulting positive image for the institute as well for the university. Wide coverage of event was published by local newsmaker also.

HAVE YOU NOTICED THESE DOODLES?

In 1998, before the company was even incorporated, the concept of the doodle was born when Google founders Larry and Sergey played with the corporate logo to indicate their attendance at the Burning Man festival in the Nevada desert. They placed a stick figure drawing behind the 2nd "o" in the word, Google, and the revised logo was intended as a comical message to Google users that the founders were "out of office." While the first doodle was relatively simple, the idea of decorating the company logo to celebrate notable events was born. In the beginning, the doodles mostly celebrated familiar holidays; nowadays, they highlight a wide array of events and anniversaries of renowned people across the world. One of the recent examples of such a doodle is the one made in memory of Savitribai Phule.

Over time, the demand for doodles has risen in the U.S. and internationally. Creating doodles is now the responsibility of a team of talented illlustrators (they are called doodlers) and engineers. For them, creating doodles has become a group effort to enliven the Google homepage and bring smiles to the faces of Google users around the world.

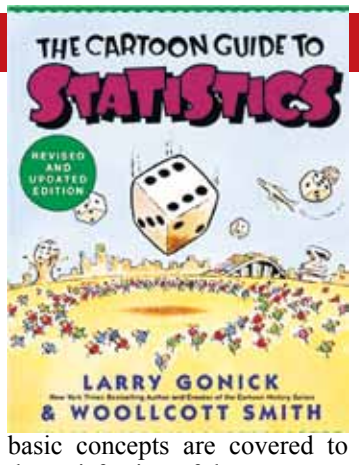
BOOK REVIEW

Cartoon Guide to Statistics (Cartoon Guide Series)

ByLarry Gonick, Woollcott Smith

Reviewed by Dipalee Atre



Certain subjects baffle us. And the books prescribed don't necessarily make things better. How many times have we wished for a book that could clear our basic concepts with the use of identifiable examples and helpful illustrations? And if humour is used....well...that would just help us in retaining what we have read!

The Cartoon Guide series is very helpful and covers subjects such as calculus, genetics, physics, chemistry and algebra, besides statistics. Using cartoon illustrations and witty text, the basic concepts are covered to the satisfaction of the user.

I chanced upon the Cartoon Guide to Statistics, by Larry Gonick and Woollcott Smith – a paperback edition from 1993. The authors have used simple yet clear language and funny illustrations to give us a proper grounding in the main ideas of modern Statistics – summarizing and displaying data, probability (using examples from gambling and medicine!), random variables, hypotheses testing, confidence interval estimation, and much more. The witty approach, the illustrations used – eg. Florence Nightingale and her efforts to improve the conditions in which soldiers were treated, the Challenger tragedy to name two – are all real and can be identified with. Reading about the practical application of these techniques and concepts makes the subject come alive and helps in grasping this subject which has honestly struck terror in the hearts of many. Beginners, be it college students or non-statistics people wanting to enter into the field of data analysis, will find this book immensely helpful.

So go ahead and order your copy from Amazon.in. You won't regret it.

કૂતરા પાછળ સસલું જોઇ આવ્યો બાદશાહ ને વિચાર,
બનાવ્યું શહેર એ ભૂમિ પર ફરતે દરવાજા કર્યા બાર!
સફર કરવા નગરીની બાદશાહ આવ્યાં કબરની બહાર,
તો જોયું બીજું અમદાવાદ, નદીની પેલે પાર!

જોઇ ગગનચુંબી ઇમારતો, જોયા મોટા શોપિંગ મૉલ,
યાદ આવ્યાં ઝૂલતા મિનારા ને યાદ આવી રંગીન પોળ!
બીઆરટીએસ માં બેસી રાજા નીકળ્યા જોવા અડાલજની વાવ,
તો યાદ આવ્યુ બંધાવેલું પેલું કાંકરિયા તળાવ!

એસિસબ્રીજની એક બાજુ ઊભી હૅરિટેલ પતંગ,
ને બીજી બાજુ ઝાંખો પડ્યો છે ગિલોનો રંગ!

દિવસથી વધુ રંગીન એવી માણેકચોકની રાત,
ખાતાં ખમણ, ગાંઠીયા ઉપર તારલાં કરે વાત!

હિસાબ કરે અમદાવાદી યાની કીટલી અને ગલ્લે,
કર્યા રાજા સાંકડી શેરીનાં એક એક મહોલ્લે!

આમ કેટલીયે નાની નાની દુનિયા આ શહેર માં રહેતી,
ફાર્મ હાઉસ અને ફૂટપાથ વચ્ચે સાબરમતી છે વહેતી...

છોડી ચિંતા કાલની, જીવે એ આજ માં,
અમદાવાદી નો વટ પડે એમ ફરે બિજાજ માં...

વાતો કરે મોટી પણ જીવનશૈલી એકદમ સાદી,
રથયાત્રા જોડે મહોરમ ઉજવે એ ખરો અમદાવાદી!
