By Dr. Mayuri Pandya

Leadership calls for vision. And this is how Shri Sudhir Nanavati is a leader of reckoning. He envisioned a moot court wherein law students can hone their skills and implement their learning. Thus, the infrastructure of the GLS Law got a boost when the new GLS Moot Court was inaugurated. This new Moot Court hall, a replica of the court room of the chief court of Gujarat High Court, is constructed with all modern facilities. The hall was inaugurated by Shri Pradeepsinh Jadeja, Hon. Minister of Law and Justice, Government of Gujarat. The guests of honour were Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.R. Shah and Hon'ble Mr. Justice N.V. Anjaria, who inaugurated the new classrooms. The other dignitaries of the event included Shri Gautambhai Shah, Mayor, Ahmedabad City, Shri Devang Nanavati, Hon. Secretary, Gujarat Law Society, and Dr. B.H. Joshi, Registrar, GLS.

Addressing the meeting, the Minister informed the audience about the initiatives of Government of Gujarat to enhance the justice delivery system in Gujarat. The Mayor informed the students about the initiatives of Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation to create educational hub in Ahmedabad city.

Striking a chord with students, Shri Devang Nanavati urged the students to read all subjects including non-law courses with equal sincerity to become a successful lawyer.

the guests and invitees and credited the 88 years of the existence of Gujarat Law Society is due to the vision and action of every member of GLS. She re-iterated the last wish of Shri I. M. Nanavati Sir as mentioned in his will, "In the end, I wish my mortal remains to be drawn through the Ellisbridge Campus of Gujarat Law Society, where I was a student, a teacher, and where I served as Honorary Secretary for 20 years."

60 YEARS OF GLITTERING ALUMNI

By Jean Dsouza

HACC organized an alumni meet on the 23rd of January to celebrate its 60th anniversary year wherein some of the most prominent personalities of the city were present. With the theme "Come Home!", the college welcomed its past students and encouraged them to have the classroom experience once again by seating them in the assembly hall of the college. The event began with a documentary film made by the students and staff of the college, walking down the memory lane of the past sixty years.

Shri Sudhir Nanavati,

Executive Vice-president, GLS, and President, GLS University, and more significantly, also an alumnus of the college, presided over the event. He spoke about his fond memories at the college, the excellent principals and faculties who have contributed towards the college, and the times of the 1960's when he was a student here. He also clarified the false rumours of the college shifting to another campus and stated that HACC will continue to be housed in the same premises. He appreciated Prin. Dr. Sanjay Vakil for bringing back the glory of the past to the college.

GLS LAW COMMEMORATES LATE SHRI I.M. NANAVATI

By Dr. Mayuri Pandya

Usually, departed souls are remembered at prayer meetings. Deviating from the tradition, GLS Law College organised a Moot Court Competition to honour the late Shri I.M. Nanavati on January 16, 2016. Shri I.M. Nanavati, as we all know, was a legal luminary and successful advocate at the Gujarat High Court and the Supreme Court of India.

Prior to the final round of the moot court competition, a preliminary round was organised to screen the candidates for the final round. The students of reputed law universities and colleges participated in the final round. The participating institutions were Gujarat National Law University, Gandhinagar, Institute of Law, Nirma University, United World School of Law, School of Law, L.J Institute, Sir L. A. Shah Law College, I. M. Nanavati Law College, M. N. Nanavati Law College and GLS Law College.

There was a division bench to judge the moot court competition and awarded the contestants. The contestants received awards in the categories of best team, best advocate appellant, best advocate respondent and best memorial submission in appellant and respondent category.

The team of I.M. Nanavati Law College received the best team award for overall performances. The team of Sir L.A. Shah Law College received the best advocate appellant trophy. Similarly, the team of I.M. Nanavati Law College received the best advocate respondent trophy. The teams of GNLU and Institute of Law, Nirma University received awards for submission of the best appellant memorial and best respondent memorial respectively.

NATIONAL SYMPOSIUM-CUM-WORKSHOP ON “PERSONAL LEARNING ENVIRONMENT IN THE DIGITAL WORLD”

By Dr. Sarla Achuthan

Gujarat Law Society’s Smt. Sadguna C U Arts College for Girls organised a two-day UGC-Sponsored National Symposium-cum-Workshop on “Personal Learning Environment (PLE) In the Digital World” on the 8th and 9th January 2016 at the GLS Campus.

There were 84 participants in the workshop, who came from all parts of the country.

Dr. Suhas Jhala, Principal, was the chairperson for the workshop and Prof. Nitesh Solanki was the Organising Secretary.

Dr. Suhas Jhala delivered the welcome address which was marvellous. She set the tone for the day and the workshop. A short film, which was made for the workshop, was shown to all the participants.

Dr. Indra Nityanandan, Retired Principal, S R Mehta Arts College, delivered the ceremonial address at the inaugural session. She explained the theme of the workshop lucidly.

Dr. Bhalchandra Joshi, Registrar, GLS, in his address gave a new perspective to PLE by giving the example of Ekalavya from mythology, thus establishing that the concept of PLE existed in those times.

The book entitled ‘Personal Learning Environment: Pedagogical Tool for Digital Age’, edited by Prof. Vaseem Qureshi and Prof. Nitesh Solanki, containing research papers of the participants was released at the function.

The Key Note Address was delivered by Dr. Albert Rayan, Head, Higher Education Cell, KCG College of Technology, Chennai. He provided a number of insights about PLE. Connecting X, Y and Z generations and their characteristics, he highlighted why status-quo in education would not work. He said that the teachers had to change if they wanted to remain in the profession. He discussed four ‘C’ skills: Critical thinking, Creativity, Collaboration and Communication and their role in PLE.

Four dynamic, techno savvy Resource Persons from different institutions - Dr. Mahesh Jivani from Saurashtra University, Dr. Dilip Barad from Bhavnagar University, Mr. H. I. Sarvaiya from K K Shah Jarodwala Science College and Dr. Atanu Bhattacharya from Central University of Gujarat jointly presented a complete demonstration of creating a PLE through Google sites including site lay out, basics of Google Form, Auto Grading and Testing, etc. The Resource Persons spent a lot of time helping the individual participants to create their own websites and also teaching them Auto Grading and Testing processes. All the participants were very satisfied with the learning of these new skills. The participants also presented their work which was the proof of their learning.

The workshop on Active Learning Methodology by Prof. Kamal Joshi of Arts, Science and Commerce College, Lunawada was very informative and interesting.

A session on useful mobile applications for teaching and learning was taken by Dr. Rakesh Damir, from N C Bodiwala College.

The organisers had invited papers on PLE for presentation in the workshop. The 34 papers were presented in three parallel sessions. The session chairs and the coordinators did an excellent job of time management and summarising the learning from the sessions.

These were reviewed and published in a book form and was released at the inaugural session.

The Valedictory Function was graced by Shri Sudhir Nanavati, President, GLS University and Vice-President, GLS. His presidential address was highly enlightening and motivating. Dr. Jadeja, Director, C.N. Vidhyavihar, was the Chief Guest for this valedictory programme.

PRAXIS: AN ATTEMPT TO EXPLORE YOUR AXIS

By Urvi Vellani

The wintry morning of 30th January 2016, was a special day for GLS (J.P. Shah) Institute of Business Administration. The college organised a one-of-a-kind exhibition called “Praxis – An attempt to explore your axis”. The exhibition was inaugurated by the President of GLS University, Shri Sudhirbhai Nanavati and the Deputy Municipal Commissioner Dr Dilip Gor.

One might wonder as to why the whole idea of organising an exhibition on such a large scale was conceived. It is said “I hear and I forget, I see and I learn, I do and I understand”. Any information one needs, is just a tap away on one’s smart phone screen. But information acquired in such a manner remains incomplete. When one needs to gain an edge over the others in this competitive world, it becomes important to put that information into practice.

In the teaching of the subject of “Waste Management”, GLSBBA students were not only taught how waste is being managed in today’s world, they were themselves encouraged to play a role in the waste management process. One of the ways to process waste is to reprocess it in a way that it becomes reusable. And when one adds value to the waste product so that it would become useful to the environment, it is known as “upcycling”. Students learnt how to recycle and upcycle waste products and turn them into something reusable. These items were then displayed in the exhibition and put for sale.

Organising an exhibition with more than 300 sellers, nearly 450 products, more than 100 posters, sketches and photos takes a lot of planning and synchronised team-work.

Step 1

At first students who had chosen elective subjects like Management Lessons from Mythology, French Language and the core subject Entrepreneurship were asked to create posters based on what they learnt.

Step 2

The next step was to train students to create upcycled and recycled products out of waste materials. For this, 5 separate workshops were organised, headed by five different mentors who taught the students how to treat materials like old newspapers, old shoe boxes, plastic bottles, old invitation cards and other junk and turn these things into useful products. The students chose their workshops and actually made some of the products during the workshops.

Step 3

Once the posters, photos, sketches and products were ready, a co-ordinated system was established to store them properly. The main co-ordinator for the event was Prof. Neha Shroff, who through careful planning and co-ordination, prepared the design and display for the entire exhibition.

Step 4

The final step was to execute every carefully planned step and turn the exhibition into reality. A well-harmonised team-work and dedicated efforts on the part of the management, the professors and the students resulted in the success of Praxis.

Waste Management Products Sale

Students displayed products like jewellery, trays, photo-frames, key-holders, doormats, gift boxes, mobile-holders, lampshades, home-décor pieces, wall-hangings, vases, wall-clocks, key-chains etc. which were all on sale. The prices of these products were decided by the students, so that helped them understand how to work out the costing of each product. Apart from that, the students were required to sell these products to the visitors. This helped them enhance their selling and marketing skills. The proceeds from the sale of these products shall be donated to “Utthaan”, an NGO for the mentally challenged.

Management Lessons from Mythology, French and Visual Arts

Another major section of the exhibition was the display of posters, photographs and sketches, each contributed by the students. The posters based on Management Lessons from

YEH DIL DHADHAKNE DO !!

By Mrs. Pearl Rodrigues

Come February & Love is in the air. February has long been celebrated as a month of Romance & 14th of February in specific is celebrated as 'Valentine Day'. A day when candies, flowers & gifts are exchanged between loved ones.

The history of Valentine Day & the story of its patron saint is shrouded in mystery. The celebration of this day contains vestiges of both Christian and ancient Roman tradition. The most popular story behind this day is the assassination of Valentine who was imprisoned for helping Christians to escape Roman prisoners.

According to one legend Valentine fell in love with the jailor's daughter who used to visit him during his confinement. Before his death he wrote her a letter signed 'From your Valentine' the expression which is used even today. Although the truth is murky, even today Valentine appeals as a Romantic Figure and the heart as a symbol of love & Romance.

The celebration of this day eventually evolves around the five lettered word 'HEART' whose rhythmic beats send out emotions of love, affection & commitment. For those in love it is fragile and delicate as it can break even with the smallest emotional outburst. But is it really true ?

As human anatomy claims it is the strongest muscle in the body which pumps blood to all the tissues through a network of vessels. It is definitely not a romantic character but a hardworking champ whose beats keep us alive.

How ironically is it that we often use the phrase 'Heart broken' in terms of an emotional break down. In reality the symbol of the heart is used metaphorically to symbolize sentiments. In medical science the heart break weighs a lot on its etymology.

A heart attack which medically occurs as a result of coronary heart disease (CHD). In simple terms plaque builds up inside the coronary and the heart does not get oxygen. So in reality, the heart should be a symbol of a person's overall health.

In reality this pear-shaped organ does not possess an impressive shape nor is it fragile or delicate. It is the strongest muscle of the human body after the uterine muscles of a woman.

Its throbs are really its beats which need to remain in a systematic rhythm. Combining both – emotional and clinical facts, the heart is 'The Hub' of a person's living. To keep it fit and fine we need to ward off unwanted competitive drives, balance our diet and compliment it with fitness exercises. Any unwanted stress or fatigue can whack the ignition system of this four-chambered pump and disrupt life. Not only physical fitness but also emotional stability will go a long way to keep the heart safe and sound. Balance emotions amidst challenges so that unwanted stress does not weigh on the heart. Don't forget to savour your life with pleasant emotions and sentiments blended with the human touch of sympathy.

This Valentine day we salute this great champ for keeping us going along with sensitivity.

COMPUTER LAB IN GLS SCHOOL AT BAKROL

As part of the GLS initiative to developing Bakrol village, we GLS (I&RKD) ICA and GLS(SRP)ICT took responsibility to established open source computer Lab for the school students. Initially the institute deployed 5 computers with good configuration. All these computers work on open source operating system "UBUNTU 14.04" with necessary open source software prescribed in standard 9 to 12. The computer lab was successfully deployed on 20th July, 2015. The entire setup was established under the guidance of Prof. Ankit Bhavsar (GLSICA), Prof. Arpit Jain (GLSICT) and Mr. Ashish Brahmhatt (GLSICA). The villagers, school staff and students appreciated the efforts made by the professors and are happy to get free Internet services.

international tax consultant, was also an alumnus, gave his esteemed presence at the event. A feeling of nostalgia and memory pervaded the hall during his speech, together with pride and glory of the days gone by.

Shri Saurabh Soparkar, renowned Advocate of the High Court of Gujarat and the Supreme Court of India, also dignified the stage with his presence. He spoke about how even a short while at this college contributed towards his growth.

Ms. Panna Momaya, IPS, Women's Crime Branch, Ahmedabad, was also present as an alumnus of the college. She spoke about how the college was instrumental in building up her character, and how she managed to be the University Athletic Champion for five consecutive years simply by sheer hard work and being a student of this college.

The past students who came to the event interacted with the faculty, reliving their college days. The current students who were present at the event were deeply impressed with the heritage of the college.

Mythology and French Language comprised a theme each like French industries or Lessons from Chanakya.

Entrovision

Another unique segment of the exhibition was "Entrovision", in which students prepared and exhibited posters made on various entrepreneurs. Each poster served as a mind-map of the life, career graph and achievements of each entrepreneur.

Collection of over 50,000 used pens

One more aspect of the exhibition, which garnered many curious glances from the visitors, was the humungous collection of used pens, which was also kept at a display at the centre of the exhibition. Why collect so many used pens, one might ask. Well, the answer is that a foundation known as "Pen Pals" project in which they make products like pieces of furniture, boxes, tea-coasters and what not using discarded pens. GLS BBA donated all the collected pens to their foundation.

To conclude, the event was a huge success. It served as a learning experience for the students and an opportunity for the visitors to witness new endeavours being undertaken by the college.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Ponchies

By Jean Dsouza

Ponchies – the name is strange, agreed. But the restaurant has amazing mughlai cuisine, a good ambience and a convenient location. Originally set up at Gandhinagar, this is an 18 month old outlet in the Judges Bungalow area. It is the second last property in the row that has a majority of shops. The initial impression was not too great as the restaurant lacked a reasonable space. I mean, it is not very big but at the same time it's not very small either. The art work is good and the spacing, comfortable.

The menu offers a wide variety of mouth-watering starters, both in the vegetarian and the non-vegetarian sections. The main course category has a large variety of dishes of Punjabi, mughlai, continental and Indian cuisines. All the products were fresh and the dishes had the warmth of home-made food. The chefs, basically from Lucknow, take great care in selecting the best quality ingredients. As we were in the mood for Mughlai, we ordered only this variety, and were completely taken over with the taste. The gravies and the spices were perfectly mughlai.

All the non-vegetarian dishes were perfectly cooked, and the vegetarian dishes had a perfect balance of spices. There seemed a problem with the juice, however. They seemed too sour. But the service and the sweetness of the waiters made up for this.

The “ulte tave ke parathe” were delicious, and the nawabi dishes were mouth-watering. The moong dal halwa was perfectly cooked with very less ghee, and thus reduced the guilt of eating!

The pricing seemed a bit too high, though, and it would take about Rs. 1600 for two persons to eat a full meal. Nonetheless, Ponchies is definitely worth more than one visit.

BIDDING ADIEU TO ANSUYA MAAM...

By Ms. Bela S. Mehta

We meet with a reason but part with memories to cherish for a life time'

As per the tradition of Gujarat Law Society a warm and affectionate send off was rendered to Ms. Ansuya Jhaveri-Principal C.U.Shah Preparatory School, at the ripe age of 82 years. This special occasion which was organized at 'Cooking Culture' was graced by Shri Sudhir Nanavati President, GLS University, Smt Rajeshwari Nanavati, Dr. Bhalchandra Joshi Registrar GLS, Dr. Hitesh Ruparel-Director General GLS University, Directors & principals of various institutions governed by GLS, Central office staff, Present & Ex staff of C.U.Shah Preparatory School and the Immediate family members of Ansuya Ma'am. After felicitation with flowers and memento, each one present enunciated his/her emotions befitting the occasion.

"I have always seen her with a smiling face, mingling with the little ones, enjoying their unclear narratives or giving them a place to sit on her lap. A perfect mother figure, she is the only principal to have served the institution for a tenure of 24 years after her retirement" was what Shri Sudhir Nanavati had to say." She is synonymous with the very existence of C.U.Shah Preparatory School", quoted Dr. B.H. Joshi.

"She has always been our role model and pillar of support. We have always seen her smiling in all situations", said the past and present staff members. The ceremonial address was concluded by a thanks note extended by Ansuya Ma'am who especially thanked the management for giving her such an extended tenure of service at the institution. She expressed her gratitude for all the support and co operation extended by the management and the staff. She expressed the desire to be always remembered at special occasions.

Yes, Ansuya Ma'am, you will always be with us as our role model. We wish and pray that the almighty bestows good health & happiness on you.
